PRIVATE PILOT LOGBOOK - ITEM # 10001315

Jeppesen is updating the Private Pilot Logbook to version 10001315-002. This update includes a new page for BasicMed tracking per 14 CFR Part 61.113(i). Example image of the new page;

BASICMED COMPLIANCE Medical exams and required training: §61.113(i)
DATE	EXAM	TRAINING	REMARKS
8-3	1		Physical wish Dr. Robers Harrison

The main events that need to occur for BasicMed eligibility are:

- Medical exams every 48 months
- FAA approved medical education course every 24 months

FAA AC 68-1 FAQ section outlines the following documentation guidance...

Q: What documentation do I need to keep [for BasicMed]?

A: You only need to keep a copy of your Comprehensive Medical Examination Checklist and your medical education course completion certificate. You can store these in your logbook, or you can store them electronically in any format, as long as you can produce an accurate representation of these documents at the request of the FAA. You don 't have to carry these documents while flying under BasicMed.
